

Ms. Trish

Director

Ms. Trish has been the DBELC director since April of 2009. Before DBELC, she taught preschool and worked as a TSS for children with autism and special needs. She graduated from Shippensburg University with a B.A. in English and Psychology in 2001 and earned her Child Care Directors Credential from Penn State University in 2015. In her spare time, Ms. Trish enjoys spending time with her family, reading, being outdoors, and playing video games with her son. What draws her to the field of early childhood education is that every day is like a new adventure with children. Early childhood is such an incredibly important stage of development. Children grow and develop all of the foundational life skills - physically, emotionally, socially, and cognitively - within the first five years of life. It is amazing to watch those skills develop and to aid in that development. Families need a place where they can trust that their children will be loved, cherished, and educated. Creating that place and continuously improving upon it is Ms. Trish's goal for DBELC. Being a part of each child's (and therefore, each family's) growth and development is a blessing and an honor.
